

Commodity, Plumpness and Delight

CASEY BENITO

California Polytechnic State University

EMILY WHITE

California Polytechnic State University

Being in control can be a burden. This pavilion favors surprise over control- an antidote to overwrought geometries. Its materials (foam, stitched and tufted form-work) are soft and approachable. It encourages indeterminate behaviors like puffing, rumpling and daydreaming.

